CODDLE YOUR EGGS IN A WHOLE NEW WAY

No matter how you like your boiled eggs—soft and runny or cooked firm—they always taste best warm. This charming felt chick egg cozy insulates the egg and keeps the heat in the shell until everyone comes to breakfast (and it makes for a pretty table, too). Cozy measures 6 inches tall. $19 each; theproductgallery.com.

TEA FOR ME

Settle in with a cup of tea and a few sips of serenity. Revolution Tea offers 15 of its premium teas in single-serving infusers, each sealed for freshness in its own little box. Great for toting or giving as gifts. $15/30-count box; revolutiontea.com.

another great grating cheese

Parmigiano-Reggiano may be the king of Italian grating cheeses, but we also love lesser known (and less expensive) Pecorino Romano. Made from sheep's milk and aged at least 8 months, Pecorino Romano is prized for its sharp, salty flavor and wonderful aroma. Grate it beautifully and efficiently with a paddle grater (coarse shown) from Microplane's Gourmet Series. $17; williams-sonoma.com.
